Mission Statement:

The mission of the Utah State Office of Asian Affairs is to assist and represent Asian Americans living within the State of Utah by advising the governor on issues and concerns which impact the Asian American community. The office monitors and reviews state government agencies, as well as other entities and their programs, including the evaluation of their responsiveness to the needs of the Asian Americans. The office aids in setting goals and policies which provide a higher quality of life for Asian Americans in vital areas such as economic opportunities, community development, health, education, civil rights and criminal justice. The office may coordinate and support the efforts of the Asian American Advisory Council and its appointed members. The office and the council adheres to the Governor's Executive Order, fulfills its mandate to facilitate communications between state government and the ethnic communities, and carries out the governor's requests.

Mission Statement:

The Asian American Advisory Council serves as a liaison between the Utah State Office of Asian Affairs and the Asian American community. The Council identifies problems, develops solutions, determines the key state governmental resources used by the Asian American community, and creates an awareness within the community of available resources. The council assists in keeping the governor apprized of the level of responsiveness of state government agencies to the needs of the Asian Americans within Utah by gathering information on the needs of constituents and developing recommendations regarding how the state can meet the need of the entire Asian American population. The council encourages community involvement and coordination among the other ethnic councils as common issues arise.
